Dear Lisa

I have just found out how much money you have kindly raised for our research. In fact, the information came from all the way across the Atlantic from a colleague of mine called James Rae, a scientist in Michigan. I presume that somehow you know him.

On behalf of everyone at The Marsden, I really cannot thank you enough for all your efforts here. Your personal contribution is awesome – I cannot believe you did a Channel swim! I am copying in my colleague, Professor Mitch Dowsett, who is particularly involved in our research, along with myself.

Kind regards,
